Large transactional platforms

Examples: Vinted, Vestiaire Collective, Depop, Leboncoin, Zalando, Faume

- Compete on volume, choice, and speed
- Make buying and selling simple and familiar
- Strong on visibility, weaker on community feeling

Structured rental services

Examples: Rent the Runway, Nuuly, My Wardrobe HQ, Lizee, Avis as service benchmark

- Compete on clear rental rules and reliability
- Make payment, timing, delivery, and returns easier to manage
- Strong on process, less personal in the user relationship

Community-led fashion players

Examples: By Rotation, Hurr, Pickle, R/S Paris, Future Vintage, Closet

- Compete on style, identity, trust, and shared wardrobes
- Make the experience feel more personal and social
- Strong on engagement, but often harder to scale

Some players focus on large-scale transactions, others on structured rental services, while more community-led players focus on trust, identity, and shared usage. reliable.

The benchmark was then translated into UX best practices linked to the four strategic objectives: growth, trust, barrier removal, and repeat usage.
